

Sermon Title: "God's Love Outweighs"

Date: October 23, 2022 - John 3:16-21

Central Idea: God's love for us transcends what we have done because the light pierces through the darkness.

Introduction: When looking at John 3:16-21 I thought about how I would speak to these words. John 3:16 is the most quoted verse in itself. Tim Tebow made it his mantra while playing college and professional football. There are countless sermons on that verse itself and I could have done the same. However, how would you truly understand what Jesus was trying to explain to Nicodemus? There is more to gather from those verses that sheds light in your darkness.

Notes:

Conclusion: If you're willing to put your trust in things that really don't matter then you should be willing to put your faith in God that matters more that can be measured. In the end it is your very soul at stake and the soul of others. Every person you meet is for a reason whether they pour into you, you pour into them, or you both strengthen each other.